

Introducing Life and Living Insurance

We're putting new life into health and work

In our ongoing commitment to be the health partner of choice for you and your clients, nib is taking its first steps into life, trauma and income protection insurance in the adviser and group channels.

Providing life and living insurance is another way we continue to deliver on nib's overall purpose - to help Kiwis and their families to live healthier, happier lives.

It also means we can support you and enable you to have more healthy conversations with your clients.

We'd like to invite you, and your clients, to join us on the journey, whether you are a health, life, mortgage or other appropriately licensed financial adviser.

When will this be available?

From 1 June 2023 you'll be able to start advising your clients on both of our life and living insurance products, provided you've completed a few simple steps.

First you'll need to decide if you're going to advise:

- Individual clients or couples on the retail Life & Living Insurance product;
- Employers and their employees on the Group Life & Trauma Insurance product;
- Or both.

There are some requirements for you to complete for each, and a few that are common to both.

What to do next

Go to nibadviser.co.nz where you'll find more information about what to do and the documents you'll need.

On nibadviser.co.nz you'll find:

- This flyer
- Variation to the nib Intermediary Agreement
- Slides from our "New Healthy Horizons: Putting New Life into Health and Work" seminar
- Life & Living Insurance Fact sheet
- Policy documents
- FAQs
- Training modules
- nib Learning Management System login

Complete the steps outlined on nibadviser.co.nz, including the training and competency assessment, and you're good to go!

Need help?

If you have questions, refer to the FAQs on nibadviser.co.nz or reach out to your Adviser Partner Manager.

